Accounting Chapter 12 Test

This test compares the fair value of the intangible asset with the asset's carrying amount. If the fair value is less than the carrying amount, the company recognizes an impairment.

Companies use this one-step test because many indefinite-life assets easily meet the recoverability test (because cash flows

Goodwill is recorded only when it is acquired through a business combination. Goodwill acquired in a business combination is considered to have an indefinite life and therefore should not be amortized, but should be tested for impairment on at least an annual basis.
